

Negative values favor the mixture; panels use different x scales.